The smart packaging solution!

Lachenmeier smartpack

Lachenmeier smartpack is all from one source, i.e. full responsibility for the whole package. We supply not only packaging machines but also film, service and flexible financing which allows you to maintain full liquidity. No tied up capital.

With Lachenmeier smartpack we offer our customers guaranteed packaging costs, higher availability on their packaging line, less scrap, possibility of less maintenance staff, and finally no transfer of responsibility as you will have only one contact person.

Concentrate on what you are good at, and leave the rest to us...

The answer to your problems

Whether it is damaged products, lost time, added freight costs due to return products, or simply just dissatisfied customers, the costs of damage are too high to ignore. That's where Lachenmeier smartpack comes in handy. With the Lachenmeier smartpack programme we analyse your current packaging process and methods and determine if they are the best to protect your products. We then supervise a test packaging of your products at one of our smartpack test centres and meet the shipment at its destination to evaluate the result. Based on these intensive tests we offer you the solution that exactly meets your needs. Once you are satisfied with our solution we deliver the new packaging machine set-up, train your staff, and make sure that everything works to your satisfaction.

We have a consultative approach to all aspects of the process including the following: Identifying customer problems and needs, testing customer products, crafting a potential solution, establishing value, ROI and finally the total solution - a win-win solution.

Our consulting services varies, ranging from brief surveys, to long range studies and in-depth analysis of your packaging process.

The answer is in the question

Asking questions throughout the analysis phases offers an important way for us and our customers to engage in a discussion on issues which help clarify the situation and provide knowledge about customer problems.

Knowledge of customer problems, requirements, obstacles and mindset all contribute to effectively positioning what we are offering, i.e. what our customers gain when dealing with Lachenmeier.

With Lachenmeier smartpack we develop an even stronger diagnosis which heightens our understanding of the different packaging issues, and it demonstrates our competence and our commitment to solving our clients packaging issues.

With nearly 40 years of experience and knowledge in the packaging industry we have the ability to provide innovative solutions that offer a balance between economic savings, functionality and performance.

Industry specific packaging leader

Since 1969, Lachenmeier has established itself as one of the main leaders in the world packaging industry. We have built a high skilled design, sales and support team to ensure that our customers receive the right solution to their packaging needs.

Lachenmeiers commitment to continual improvement and new product innovations ensures customer satisfaction and has made Lachenmeier the packaging supplier of choice for many of the world's top manufacturers. We provide packaging for every industry, whether it be food, beverage, chemicals, building products, corrugated or products from the appliance industry

We want to partner with our customers to increase their line efficiencies and reduce their costs while developing the best packaging technology, suited for each individual need.

Partnership with Lachenmeier to assure the right packaging solution.
